CHRISTIAN FAITH

DR. D. F. FOX OF PASADENA PRESENTS INTERESTING THEME TO FULL HOUSE

The Bible lecture course at the high school under the auspices of the Ministerial association is being appreciated very highly by the people of Glendale. The auditorium was filled last night to hear the lecture given by Rev. D. F. Fox, D. D., pastor of the Congregational church in Pasadena, who spoke on the subject of "Christian Faith." This man's greatness was exemplified in the simplicity and clearness with which he handled the profound subject of Christian faith. He addressed himself to two classes of people: 1. The man who never thought through. 2. The man who has a feeling that the Christian faith is forced upon him. He stood in the simplicity of a child in the world with all its phenomena and interpreted their sublime meaning, and by them indicating that no rational being can stop short of Christian faith. He said, "Men think the faith faculty may be ignored; but the fundamental differences of men's lives is just there. The one talent man is eclipsing the others about him and doing things which people say he cannot do. The man of faith is always a power. Those recorded in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews made history which makes your heart beat. Don't despise the little faith you have, but hold on to that one thing you believe with both eyes wide open. Why is it that so many have no faith? Is it not because they have thrown away that which illicits faith? They interpret the universe in terms of the material, and ignore the spiritual facts of interpretation. We can never arrive at the ideas, true and false, from materialistic interpretation. The fact that we think takes us out of the purely material realm, and makes us conscious that we are more than mere clay. How then does thought show itself? In all that we see about us there is wonder. Nature is not a chaos, but a cosmos. We reason from this that back of this order there is a supreme thinker. Back of a great bridge is the thought of the intelligent designer, so back of the orderly universe there is an intelligent architect, a builder and sustainer—that is our faith. We cannot think otherwise. If a ship needs a pilot, then we arrive at the conclusion that this universe also needs a pilot. This directicity he said is like a manager directing a great railroad system, you take out the manager and that which went on orderly is now chaotic. Type will not set itself into poetry, but direct it with intelligent design and you have the rythmic verse. But you say plants just grow, they don't have any directivity. Is chemical force all? If so, why does it not go on and write a text book on botany?

"Then there is the question of the beautiful, which alone can be interpreted as we possess the artistic temperament; but does it require less to interpret than it does to create? Hence our only rational course is to accept the idea of an intelligent creator.

"Then how do I account for the idea that I have right thoughts and wrong thoughts? I am thoroughly conscious that I do things that are wrong and other things that are right. I cannot get rid of that fact. This gives us the conception that this intelligent being is holy, or else he is not in harmony with his creation. If this is so it is scientific, philosophical, and practical. The moral nature of man harmonizes with the idea of a holy being. The animals act with intelligent instinct as we call it. But they trust, believe it, and act upon it. Is there not harmony in these two conceptions? Look at that old book which tells us of a man crucified, the veil in the temple rent in twain, and all service and sacrifice ceased; but since that the cross which was a symbol of shame is lifted up as an emblem of praise. It tells us of his last supper. His friends take it and believe in him and the fear of death is taken away, and this moral nature of man finds a complete satisfaction in believing in the supreme intelligent being. The one answer in a practical way to the other. The dog is lonesome without his master, so man is in a chaotic world without his master. Thus faith is the answer to the deepest necessity of man's nature."

The members of the choir of the Congregational church furnished the music, delighting the audience with a splendid anthem. Rev. H. J. Hartsell presided over the meeting and the speaker was introduced by the Rev. E. H. Willisford, pastor of the Congregational church. Prayer was offered by Rev. Julius Soper of the Casa Verdugo church, and the benediction by the Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Presbyterian church.

Owing to the fact that the Rev. R. A. Torrey is to be away in a meeting, the lecture scheduled to be given by him next Monday evening will not be given. There will be no lecture next Monday evening. The next in the series will be given by the Rev. Matt S. Hughes, D. D., on Monday night of May 17, on the subject of "The Church," which will conclude the series.

CHAPTER CELEBRATES

UNITY CHAPTER CELEBRATES ITS FIRST ANNIVERSARY WITH BANQUET

Unity chapter No. 116 celebrated its first anniversary Monday night at the Masonic temple by a banquet which was attended by about two hundred members and guests. Many out-of-town guests were present from Eagle Rock, Burbank, Tropico and Los Angeles. The first speaker on the program was Mattison B. Jones, high priest of Unity chapter No. 116, who gave an interesting resume of the past year's history of the chapter, its growth and prosperous condition and extended a hearty invitation to members of Glendale, Eagle Rock, Tropico and Burbank lodges. He was followed by Prof. Geo. U. Moyse, past master of the Glendale lodge. Other principal speakers of the evening were Mr. Godfrey Edwards, past master Eagle Rock lodge; Henry Fouscup of the Burbank lodge, Rev. C. Irving Mills of the Glendale lodge, Dr. C. J. Cresmere, high priest of Los Angeles chapter No. 33; Dr. D. W. Bosserman, past high priest of Sigmet chapter 57 of Los Angeles; Mr. E. B. Spencer, grand king of the grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the state of California, and Mr. Perry W. Weidner, grand commander of the Knights Templar of the state of California. By no means a small part of the enjoyment of the evening's program was furnished by the orchestra and a vocal solo by Francis Booth.

After the program, which was held in the chapter hall, a most appetizing banquet was served in the banquet hall. The celebration of the first anniversary of the Unity chapter will long be remembered by the members and guests as a most important epoch in the history of the chapter, a fitting close to a year of prosperity and growth.

On Friday evening of this week Glendale Commandery will be instituted, the charter having been granted by the Grand Commandery at San Francisco two weeks ago.

MIDDLEWORTH SUES FOR DAMAGES

The trial of W. R. Middleworth of the Overland Auto company vs. Wm. Hyatt of 1634 West Broadway, is now in progress in Judge Whomes court.

Mr. Middleworth is suing for damages done to his car when he collided with the car driven by Mr. Hyatt.

The accident occurred last July at the corner of Broadway and Isabel streets.

The trial of the driver of the U. S. Transfer company, which was to have been held this morning, has been postponed until a later date to be set by the court.

NEW RESIDENCE ON CEDAR

John Horsch, proprietor of the Modern grocery on Glendale avenue, and who recently purchased a large corner lot on Second street, facing Dayton court and Cedar street, took out a building permit Monday of this week to erect a $1800 residence facing Cedar. In the near future Mr. Horsch contemplates building a more pretentious residence on the corner of Second and Cedar.

SEEKING GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

While trying to dispose of a pair of spectacles Monday afternoon, a man who gave his name as John Golden was taken into custody by Chief Herald and is now being held in the city jail for further investigation. The suspect had quite a quantity of gold-mounted spectacles on his person and was unable to give a satisfactory account of himself.

When seen by a News reporter "John" said he had nothing to say and was only looking for the "golden opportunity" to leave town.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF CITY TRUSTEES

M. T. RUSSELL PRESENTS PETITION ASKING TRUSTEES TO CALL ELECTION FOR FIFTH CLASS CITY—H. M. WARNER GRANTED PERMIT TO INSTALL ICE MANUFACTORY—HEARING OF PROTESTS AGAINST TREE PLANTING SET FOR MAY 17

The regular weekly meeting of the board of trustees of the city of Glendale was held in the city hall Monday evening, May 3, 1915. There were present: O. A. Lane, president of the board, and Trustees Chas. Grist, J. S. Thompson, A. W. Tower and George Williams; also T. W. Watson, city manager; J. C. Sherer, city clerk; W. E. Evans, city attorney; H. B. Lynch, manager public service department; E. M. Lynch, city engineer; G. B. Hoffman, city treasurer, and G. H. Herald, city marshal.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The chairman of the board of trustees asked if anyone present wished to address the board, whereupon Marshall T. Russell, representing certain petitioners of the city, a number of whom were present, addressed the board and presented a petition which he stated had been signed by 1100 electors of Glendale asking that the city trustees call an election giving the electors of Glendale an opportunity to vote for or against changing the form of government of said city from a sixth class to a fifth class city. In presenting the petition, Mr. Russell spoke as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Trustees, City of Glendale:

The petition I present to you is signed by more than one-fourth of all the electors of the city. The petition was circulated by busy people and has not been presented to nearly all of the electors, but I am informed by the various parties who carried the petition and secured the signatures that about ninety per cent of the electors to whom it was presented willingly signed the petition.

It is common knowledge to all that our city contains a population of about 8000 souls. This estimate of the population may be arrived at by various means of estimation, and a recent canvass of the inhabitants for the purpose of getting out a city directory finds the population to be about 8000 or a few less in numbers. This directory has been printed and is being distributed, and I believe, your honors, that the population as given by it is substantially correct. So that there is no question but that the city of Glendale has sufficient population to entitle it to be enrolled as a fifth class city according to law.

We, therefore, ask your honorable body to take immediate action such as is prescribed by law to place this matter before the people by calling an election therefor at once. And that if you deem it necessary under the law to take a more definite enumeration of the population immediately, and at the same time the election be called for the purpose of reorganizing the city into one of the fifth class.

Very respectfully,
MARSHALL T. RUSSELL.
For the Subscribers to the Petition.

A motion was offered and seconded that the petition be referred to the city attorney with the request that he is to report on the regularity of the same at the next regular meeting of the board. At this juncture E. M. McClure addressed the board stating that the petitioners would prefer to have the petition given consideration at an earlier date than the next regular meeting of the board, as a delay of that length of time might cause it to be too late. The motion before the board prevailed.

The clerk read a communication from H. M. Warner in which he asked that he be granted a permit to install an ice and cold storage plant in a building between Broadway and Third street and Brand boulevard and Maryland avenue, it being Mr. Warner's intention to engage in the manufacture of ice in the said building. The request for the permit on motion was referred to the committee of the whole and later in the evening was on motion taken from the committee of the whole and the permit granted as requested by Mr. Warner.

A communication was read from F. Wilkinson, publisher of the 1915-1916 Glendale city directory. In this communication Mr. Wilkinson set forth the plan upon which he secured the enumeration of the citizens of Glendale. He said his enumeration gave the number of heads of families as 2466, the total number of inhabitants 7931. Mr. Wilkinson's report was on motion received and placed on file. The question of whether Frank Fellows received a permanent injury while employed by the city some months ago came up for consideration. A letter was read from Dr. R. E. Chase, the city physician, stating that he had examined Mr. Fellows and that he did not consider his injuries permanent. A letter was also read from Dr. E. F. Archer, who had been the attending physician during the time of Mr. Fellows' disability, and said letter concurred with the communication received from Dr. Chase. On motion the city manager was instructed to have further examinations made and also to have any money due Mr. Fellows on account of the injury paid to him immediately.

ART EXHIBIT

DARIUS COBB'S PICTURE, "THE MASTER," TO BE SHOWN IN GLENDALE

The art section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will have an exhibit Wednesday, May 5, of the famous picture of Christ called "The Master," by Darius Cobb. This picture has been shown once in Los Angeles and is on the way to the San Francisco exposition.

This masterpiece has an interesting history. When seventeen years of age and during a fierce battle of the Civil war, Mr. Cobb made a vow that if his life were spared he would paint something that would make the world better for having seen it. This picture, "The Master," is the result of that vow. Mr. Cobb has worked for thirty or forty years on this picture.

This exhibition is given under the auspices of the art section and is free to all. Through the courtesy of the high school officials, the exhibit will be held in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. A collection will be taken to defray the expenses of lights and shipping the picture.

The artist will be present and will give a short explanation of the picture and tell why he painted it and why he is willing to exhibit it thus without charge.

THE BOOSTER TEA

Don't forget the big "booster tea" to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, 106 Orange street, Saturday afternoon. Everyone in Glendale should turn out to this affair, learn all about the big May festival, and meet the two candidates for queen.

The poster contest in the afternoon will be very interesting and there will be a splendid program in the evening. Everyone is invited and may come by paying the admission price of ten cents.

The names of the reception committee and the full program will be announced in the Glendale Evening News tomorrow. Keep this in mind.

CONGREGAT'NAL BROTHERHOOD

The Brotherhood of the First Congregational church will meet this evening at the church at 7:45. The male quartet will furnish music and there will be discussions on interesting and important topics. Refreshments will be served. The men of the church and congregation and their friends are cordially invited.

FIFTH CLASS CITY

PETITION IS IN HANDS OF THE CITY ATTORNEY FOR AN INVESTIGATION

The electors of Glendale who are advocating changing the city government from a sixth to a fifth class city, presented a petition before the board of city trustees Monday evening asking that an election be called giving the voters of the city an opportunity to vote on the question. The question was referred to the city attorney who will report on the legal phase of the question next Monday evening.

If the city attorney reports the petition as being regular, and recommends the trustees to call an election, the columns of the Evening News will then be open for reasonable discussion on both sides of the question. As yet the majority of the voters of Glendale are not familiar with the conditions of a fifth class city. The readers of the Evening News will please bear in mind that the columns of the News are always open to fair and pointed discussions on all questions.

HONESTY BEST POLICY

Honesty in advertising, in telling of your wares, honesty in professional dealings. There was once a time when it was customary to try and fool your customer by distorted statements or to seek new custom by false statements in one's announcements. It is not so today. Tell the truth, have the best thing of its kind, treat your clients, patients and patrons with courtesy and fairness and success will be yours. Not necessarily great wealth, for that only comes to a few. But real success, a justifiable pride in your work can be the portion of any man. I have in mind a dentist—never mind his name, for to give it would certainly be the best kind of advertising. A friend of mine called to have a tooth tinkered. The dentist made a careful examination and discovered that nothing was really the matter. Perhaps my friend didn't have enough acquaintance with a good toothbrush. At any rate the examination made, no cost was attached. Ah, but you say, how foolish a dentist. Why didn't he charge? Why, the very truth that dentist told will stand him in good stead with my friend, who will have confidence in him and recommend him, but better still, it shows the caliber of the man, a regular 44-centimeter bore. His future is assured. He is happy in his profession. He honors it.

TERMS OF PEACE

There is considerable discussion touching possible terms of peace and the terms thus far mentioned are grotesquely impossible. This discussion for the present would seem to be futile. Tentative proposals emanate from Dr. Dernberg, these being so far beyond consideration, when measured by the principles of justice, that they might be suspected of having been originated in a grim spirit of jest. They embody the concession to one country of all that it has claimed or desired, permitting peace to be restored with this nation having the full fruits of victory, in consideration of which it will admit defeat. All it wants is its own way, and if the victors will acknowledge that they are wrong and surrender to the defeated, the latter will promise to be good. It would like also to have sea power abolished, and since sea power is all that has kept England from being under alien rule at this moment, the probability of a hitch over this point may be conjectured. And it would like to have all seas and narrows free in war time, the narrows including a ditch known as the Panama canal. This leads the people of the United States to feel more than a casual interest; but they maintain their neutrality. They do it by an effort in this instance, but their neutrality still is on straight. Of course any peace that did not involve the complete restoration of Belgium to its owners and full compensation for damage done, would be a disgrace to the whole world, and could not last. The general understanding is that a permanent peace is the kind sought, and to establish such peace would require conformity with a condition so obvious that mention of it cannot be ocensive.—Pasadena News.

Said bonds shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An Act to provide a system of street improvement bonds to represent certain assessments for the cost of street work and improvements within municipalities, and also for the payment of such bonds," approved February 27, 1893, and of all acts supplementary thereto or amendatory thereof.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

W. C. T. U.

A state convention is called at Fresno about the second of June to inaugurate a new campaign for California "dry." Los Angeles county will have 226 delegates that will be elected at a county convention in Los Angeles on Friday, May 7th, at 11 a. m. at the state normal school, corner of Fifth street and Grand avenue.

Because of the above convention, the Glendale W. C. T. U. will hold their regular meeting of this week on Thursday, May 6th (instead of the usual Friday), at the home of Mrs. Geo. Lemon, 119 East Broadway, at 2:30 p. m.

Delegates to the above convention will be selected and the proposed amendments to be submitted to the Fresno convention will be discussed. A full attendance is desired. Members extend the notice.

NON-PARTISANSHIP IS LAW

The Young non-partisan election bill is now a law, having passed both houses of the California legislature and having received the approval of the governor. It can now be prevented from going into effect at once only by an appeal to the referendum.

Governor Johnson is known to be eager for a test of public opinion on this measure through an appeal by its enemies to a vote of the people, and to have that appeal go before the people at the earliest possible moment. Partisan politicians used their strongest endeavors to prevent the passage of the bill and they will, without doubt, undertake every possible means of preventing the measure from going into effect. There can be little doubt that the referendum will be invoked against the law and that a tremendous effort will be made to defeat it. It is revolutionary in its aims and it is far in advance of any similar legislation undertaken by any other state of the Union. It removes the state government from partisan political control absolutely by eliminating party names from the ballot, both primary and final, and permits the people to select candidates from personal considerations solely. It puts into effect a principal of government which more resembles pure democracy than any of the so-called advanced measures heretofore instituted in any state. It makes the people of California really self-governing, which has not been the fact in the past. Few persons other than those who are devoted to partisan politics for business reasons really doubt the desirability of the non-partisan system of selecting public officers for the state government, but many doubt the workability of the system in a unit so large as a great state. We all believe in non-partisanship for the city government and most of us believe in it for the county government, but a large number of persons are yet to be convinced that the system is applicable in state elections. There is much to be said on that phase of the question and it was quite well said last year when Governor Johnson ran for re-election mainly on that issue and received a plurality of nearly 200,000 votes.

A common remark is, "The seasons are changing," but one forgets.

WILL EXPLAIN BETTER WAYS OF TEACHING

Declaring that she considered the launching of her now famous method of instructing children just begun, Dr. Maria Montessori of Italy, who arrived in Los Angeles recently, stated that she had come to America because she thinks it will be easier to organize those interested in her method of training here than in any other country. She comes here also that she may make her ideas more clearly understood.

"Americans," smiled this woman, "seem always more interested in the active education of the young than the people of any other country. They are ever seeking better ways in which to train their young, and are more often actively interested in the care and training of their children than the people of other countries.

"I do not consider that my method of child training has in any degree been firmly established, but there are a great many people in every civilized country who are interested. Many, however, are only passably so. They are like the persons who declare they are very much interested in any line of work, but who never make any effort to help along the cause.

"I believe that because of the American tendency to always be on the alert in everything, especially in the care and training of their children, that this is the best country I could have selected in which to organize those interested in my method of child training. Through this organization of the people who are interested in my efforts I hope the system will spread."

In talking of her method and its effect upon children Dr. Montessori stated that it was too new for any one to see all its far-reaching benefits, but already it has been demonstrated that the whole psychic life of the young so trained will be greater, stronger and far more sympathetic.

"A much broader outlook upon life will be obtained," she said. "Their characters will be strengthened morally and a transformation will ensue."

Dr. Montessori will be in this country four months. Two months will be spent in Pasadena and in Los Angeles, while the other two months will be divided between San Diego and San Francisco.

She will give numerous lectures at the various Montessori schools, which will be translated into English, as she speaks only her native tongue.

"THIRTY PIECES OF SILVER"

The picture by the force of its conception instantly attracts the attention of all visitors, and impels them to make widely varying comments in harmony with their knowledge or ignorance of the history of Judas Iscariot and Jesus, the Christ. Those who have read that history, but not studied it sufficiently well to comprehend it, are greatly amused and diverted by the remarks of those who are ignorant of the subject of the picture.

"What is that?" inquires a handsome blonde haughtily of the woman in charge.

"Thirty Pieces of Silver," is the courteous reply, and then, seeing that she made no connection with previous knowledge, the woman added: "It is Judas Iscariot," without any better result. However, a ray of remembrance came to the blonde's escort and he enlightened her with the information: "Aw, girlie, you know—it's the Bible."

"Oh, the Bible! No, I've never read it. Come, let's go."

"Mother, what is that?"

"Why, can't you see, It's a lady drying her hair."

"Now, that is the kind of a picture I like; it tells a story." This from a tall, robust man who apparently came from the wild hinterlands.

"It does, indeed, tell a story; what does it tell you?" the woman replied.

This loosed the bonds of the man's fancy and he gave it full rein in a story of an unfortunate prospector who became lost in Death valley and went "plum locoed" for want of water.

So much for those who are ignorant of the subject, and yet a few of whom get an intelligent and worthy story out of the picture. But then, knowing our own shortcomings, are we Christian people justified in smiling contemptuously at that ignorance? Rather are we not the ones whom Christ holds in contempt, like he did the Pharisees of old, for not living in harmony with the knowledge we possess of such a simple and exceedingly beautiful thing as the Lord's Prayer?

We repeat that prayer daily and therefore should comprehend its phrases better than any other knowledge in our possession. But who is there among us who in spirit and in truth lives his life in harmony with that wonderful prayer which contains all the law of Christ's gospel in a few simple phrases? Can it not be truthfully said of us, who know the law but refuse to live it, that we are daily selling our master for thirty pieces of silver?

What can our purpose be in professing to the world that we are Christians, when as a matter of fact we refuse to observe the fundamental law which Christ declared? If we do not believe it possible to live the law, why are we false witnesses by claiming to be his disciples—why do we betray him for thirty pieces of silver? My brothers in iniquity, do you know what I am talking about?

JOSEPH GUIDINGER.

MEETING OF TRUSTEES

City Attorney W. E. Evans reported to the board of trustees that he would not recommend them to accept the easement as furnished by Mr. Carr of the Pacific Electric Railroad company as concerning certain stipulations in connection with the railroad crossings at Chestnut and Seventh streets. He said the conditions of the easement would not allow the city to change the grade if at any time it should be necessary to make such a change. He therefore considered it unwise to accept the easement in this form. On motion the city attorney was advised to continue condemnation proceedings.

The report read by the city clerk showed that forty-eight merchants had paid the merchants' license tax during the month ending April 30 and that nineteen building permits had been granted by the building inspector, the aggregate amount being $9015. The recorder's fees for the month of April amounted to the sum of $112.

The city health officer reported as follows:

To the Board of Trustees, City of Glendale:

I beg to submit the following report for the month of April, 1915:

One case of tuberculosis reported.
Seven cases of varicella reported.
Three cases of measles reported.

Respectfully,
R. E. CHASE.

The city manager's report for April was read and on motion received and placed on file, and is published elsewhere in this issue.

The manager of the public service department stated to the board that a number of months ago a question of a fire alarm system had been referred to him and his report had never been acted upon. He said the question had come up recently with companies installing fire alarm systems as to a proposition they are able to offer the city and now it is up to the board whether they think best to depend upon the telephones as a means of giving the alarm in case of fire or would it be better to install a regular fire alarm system. It was the unanimous opinion of the members of the board that the installation of the fire alarm system should be postponed for one or two years.

A communication was presented from the committee having in charge the advertising of the Glendale Festival of Fruits and Flowers on May 27, 28 and 29. This committee asked that the trustees have certain printed matter pertaining to advertising the city of Glendale and also advertising the Festival of Fruits and Flowers printed and paid for out of the advertising funds of the city. On motion $35 was allowed for the advertising as outlined in the communication.

THEY COME! THEY COME!

How dear to our hearts are our friends in California!
Our love for them never was clearer than now.
All vainly we try to express our devotion,
But drop pens admitting we do not know how.
Expressions of true love are quite beyond mailing;
We'll pack up our grips and in person we'll bear
The smiles and the longings and marks of affection,
And while we're about it we'll take in the fair.

We'll stay long enough to convince them we mean it;
That distance is nothing where love is concerned;
And we'll shower the favor of presence upon them
Till the lesson we know is by them also learned.
We'll linger a month if the case seems to need it,
For this anguish of heart we can no longer afford;
We'll offer our love which is free as the heavens,
And take of their excellent bedding and board.—Columbus Dispatch.

STILL A PROBLEM

To a large extent the jitney bus is a problem local to Southern California. It may have a brief season in the East, but it cannot thrive there in winter unless the style of vehicle be completely changed. No passenger will seek an open bus with the cold blasts blowing, and a reasonably warm street car accessible, even though a litle slower. Moreover, the streets are apt to be rendered dangerous by the presence of ice and snow. Even in the mild winter of California the rain puts the bus at a disadvantage temporarily. Regarding this bus as a problem, it still remains to be solved. Its future is in doubt, and its place as an economic feature uncertain. Its presence on the streets calls up a question of justice. The extent of its rights has not yet been defined. There is a cry that it deprives the transit companies of a legitimate due, and deprives the state also, since the company pays a tax on gross income. Nevertheless the public seems to want it, for the public continues to use it. On many of the routes in Los Angeles, bus after bus may be seen overtaking and passing the street car, each bus crowded, and the car comparatively empty. The introduction of so cheap and rapid a method of transit, if it shall become permanent, surely portends a great change in the car lines themselves, in the cost of running street cars, or in the end, the abolition of the track system altogether. There is no utility in declining to recognize this fact. To the effort to tax the bus out of existence there comes a lusty response in the nature of protest. The theory that the bus drivers cannot make money seems adequately enough refuted by the fact that they continue to drive. However pleasant their task may be, it is not supposable that they are clinging to it so obstinately at loss to themselves. There is hardly a change in the functioning of any utility that is not objectionable to somebody in the beginning. Electric power had to fight its way to popularity, and whatever shall succeed it will have a similar experience. It may be the present bus, and it may be a bus to come later. Meanwhile, the bus as it is, offends invested capital and jars the traditions of the highway. There is no liklihood that the influences anxious to banish it can be successful, for more than a brief time, anyhow. Probably there will be a readjustment and the bus in some form, come to be regarded as a permanency, to be subjected to regulation, but not deserving of being regulated to death.—Pasadena News.

TIOGA ROAD AND MUIR TRAIL

Only those who have had the pleasure of tramping from Yosemite valley over the old Tioga road, through the Tuolumne meadows and on to Tioga lake and the old Tioga mine, can thoroughly appreciate the great advantage to the nature lover, especially one who is fortunate enough to own an automobile, of the acquirement of the Tioga road by the federal government and its promised restoration and improvement so as to be available for motorists during the coming summer.

The road was originally built over thirty years ago for the purposes of the Tioga mine, but fell into disuse and necessary delapidation when the mine was abandoned. Through the efforts of Stephen T. Mather, assistant to the secretary of the interior, a Californian himself, for a price approximating $15,000, the road, which originally cost over $60,000, has been secured by the federal government. It will connect with the state roads in the San Joaquin valley leading north and south throughout the state and will also be available for motorists from the Mono and Inyo sections on the eastern slope of the Sierras, who heretofore to reach San Joaquin valley have been obliged to make a wide detour either to the northward through Reno or to the southward through the Mojave desert. With the reopening of the Tioga road and the building of the John Muir trail from the high Sierras in the Yosemite to Mount Whitney along the crest of the ridge, the $10,000 appropriation for which now seems assured of passage in the present legislature, a real and notable start will have been made in the opening of our mountain fastnesses to popular travel.

We trust that the Tioga road and the Muir trail will be regarded as only a very small beginning of a comprehensive plan for the development and popularization of our truly remarkable and wonderfully beautiful mountains. If the Swiss were running California they already would have expended millions, instead of practically nothing, in this direction. California can well afford to take a leaf out of the note-book of the enterprising, long-headed Swiss.

PUSS AND THE WEATHER

The cat is an excellent barometer. When you see a cat wetting its paw in its mouth and then rubbing it energetically over the upper part of its ear you may feel pretty certain that rain is coming. This action is pussy's method of relieving the uncomfortable feeling in its ears caused by the change in the atmospheric pressure which precedes a storm. If the unpleasant feeling in the ear were due to a foreign substance then the cat would scratch the ear with its hind foot. But when pussy scrubs its ear with its saliva moistened paw it is when rain is impending.

HEALTH TO BE PRIZED

In all large cities there are numbers of hospitals and these sanitariums are pretty well crowded the year round with suffering patients. Most of the patients have probably been operated upon, for it is fashionable these days to boast of an operation. However, you will find few people from the country in the hospitals; in fact, you will not find many from the ranks of those who do outdoor work. Did you ever hear of a field hand having appendicitis? Or do you find this fashionable ailment among the sailors? No! These who toil out in the sunshine are generally healthy and are free from such fashionable but costly diseases as appendicitis. If you would enjoy good health, work in the garden and put in a few hours each week in the sunshine. Thousands of city dwellers would prolong their existence if they would move to the country and cultivate a small tract of land. There is health in living in the open air, and certainly health is more to be prized than wealth.

SCHOLARSHIP FIRST

Adopting the slogan of "scholarship first," Occidental college will limit its freshmen next September to 150 students. This announcement was made by John Willis Baer, president of the college, and statements to this effect were sent principals of the different high schools.

Freshman standing will be granted graduates of approved preparatory schools presenting fifteen entrance units, all of which are recommended; provided that two out of the fifteen are in English and not more than four in the vocational subjects. A subject personally recommended by the principal will be counted as of recommending grade. The college will not consider applications for admission on less than fifteen units.

In the statement, Dr. Baer says:

"It is the purpose of Occidental college to emphasize quality of preparation and intellectual promise, personal character and seriousness of purpose. Principals are expected to exact a high standard of scholarship as preliminary to recommendation, and to withhold recommendation from those who are undesirable or unpromising from the point of view of moral qualities or habits. In fixing its recommending standard a school may properly provide that the lower passing grades in a particular subject or subjects may be offset by a general high average, or by decided intellectual promise. Subjects completed with private tutors, or under other than regular school conditions should not ordinarily be recommended. Where the course of study includes the newer subjects, in which high school standards are not fixed, the quantity and quality of work must be specially evidenced."

FOREST PROTECTION SYSTEM

SACRAMENTO, May 3.—At present there is a measure before the California legislature seeking to provide for a forest protection system. Whether this measure becomes a law or not, it is essential that those who enjoy spending their vacation in the woods be familiar with the fire hazards which threaten their playground every summer. During the last season there were 1810 fires reported and many of these could easily have been avoided.

G. M. Homans, the state forester, urgently advises that all campers this season make and keep their camp sites as nearly as possible fireproof.

Never go away and leave an open fire unattended if it is in the vicinity of brush and grass.

Don't forget that one moment of carelessness with a campfire, cigar stump, lighted match or cigaret is apt to result in days of anxious and expensive fire fighting.

Never break camp without thoroughly extinguishing your campfire.

Remember that the genuine camper, the skilled woodsman, is as careful about building and putting out his fire as he is about feeding his horse and having gasoline in his automobile tank.

Don't forget that if you let a fire get away from you, you have wronged the state and have subjected yourself to just criticism from your friends who now think you are a fine woodsman.

Don't hesitate to tell another when you think he is being careless with fire. If you find a beautiful camp site, try to leave it more attractive than you found it.

WHAT IS YOUR OCCUPATION?

The game may be played by three or more children. One player becomes the "guesser" and the others each agree upon an occupation which he is supposed to follow. The guesser then asks, "What is your occupation?" and all the other players must go through the operation of performing the labor agreed upon. If from any one the guesser can get an idea as to what the labor is, then the laborer must take his place. He can have but one guess.

Boston proposes revival of a law forbidding smoking in public.

It is said that 11,000,000 pounds of coffee, containing 300,000 pounds of caffein, are used annually in American hospitals.

Respectfully submitted,
T. W. WATSON, City Manager.

We cannot conceive of anything more miserable than a man without something to do, and yet many men are willing to have themselves placed in the miserable class.

The man who has been studying as to the usefulness of weeds has failed to make his report up to the present time.

The sun shines on the just and the unjust—most people must have been unjust the last few days.

In Cincinnati a court has limited telephone gossip on a party line to five minutes. A first class gossiper, however, can do a lot of damage in that time.

A man usually gets the highest percentage in right doing when he is the only judge of his actions.

We are often required to mix ingredients, but the success of the mixture depends greatly on the ability of the one doing the mixing.

ONTARIO'S SPECIAL EDITION

The Ontario Daily Report has issued an Invitation number of forty pages and cover in which the advantages of Ontario are set forth in a very attractive way. The edition is printed on enamelled paper and profusely illustrated with views of Ontario and vicinity, and prominent people of the city. The edition is an invitation to eastern people to come to Ontario, and is a very creditable piece of work.

All the world now is turning a regretful glance back to the bread which mother used to make, with plenty of dough in it.

After a man gets property he is afraid the people are not as honest as they were when he didn't have anything to lose.

The thought that "it might be worse" is a kind of last resort consolation.

WHAT HE DIDN'T FORGET

A small customer appeared at the grocery store and the smiling grocer asked him what he wanted.

"Please, mister," said the boy, "I can't remember what ma sent me for, but you can give me two cents' worth of peppermint candy 'cause she said I could keep the change."

Why is it that two boys will start in life with equal advantages and one will succeed and the other will fail? Answer.

We never graduate from the school of experience until the undertaker is called in for the last rites.

It is interesting to stand on a public thoroughfare and notice the various attitudes of people as they pass by.

A mountain is always a greater distance from us than it appears.
